Youth fire brigades are becoming increasingly popular in Sweden,
And it's easy to understand why...

Being a part of youth fire brigade is both exciting and educational.

The youth fire brigades are for boys and girls from 11 to 18 years old. Through practice and training, young people increase their skills in many areas.

They learn how to act in various situations and become aware of the risks involved, teenagers with this experience can make a valuable contribution by informing their peers about how to prevent and limit serious injuries.

Being able to inform the public in this crucial area and maybe even learning to save lives, is an excellent motivation.

Working across national and other borders is important. Leaders and young people meet to share experiences and participate in training, at camps and elsewhere. In this way, we learn a great deal from each other.
